NUMB. 429.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday June 5, to MONDAY June 14, 1742.

LINTZ, January 12.

IMMEDIATELY after the Grand Duke of Tuſcany's Arrival in the Army commanded by the Veldt Marſhal the Count de Khevenhuller, the numerous Garriſon of French and Bavarians in this City was again ſummoned to ſurrender, and upon the French Lieutenant General the Count de Segur's obſtinate Refuſal, it was attack'd this Morning by the Queen of Hungary's Forces with ſo much Vigour, that after it had ſuffer'd Canonading and Bombardment for twelve Hours, it was oblig'd to capitulate The Conditions are, That they ſhall march out with all the Military Honours, and not ſerve againſt the Queen of Hungary for the ſpace of a Year The French are to retire towards Donawert on the other ſide of the Danube, and to ſtay there 'till the Middle of April, after which they are to return to France; and the Bavarians are to be canton'd in the Upper Palatinate.

This City, which is the Capital of Upper Auſtria, lies upon the Danube, about 95 Miles W. from Vienna, and is a neat City, built after the Italian Faſhion, all White Free Stone, and there's a fare ſquare Piazza, adorn'd with noble Fountains It has a good Caſtle on a Hill, and a ſpacious handſome Market-place, with two Fairs a Year, viz. at Eaſter and Bartholomew Tide, much frequented by Foreigners. This is the City to which the Emperor retired during the Siege of Vienna, and its Situation is the moſt pleaſant of any Town in his Dominions, eſpecially the Suburbs on the other ſide of the River, which chiefly conſiſt of the Houſes of the Nobility and Gentry, and are join'd to the Town by a large Wooden Bridge.

Prague, February 10. The Movements which the French Troops have been obliged to make this Seaſon, have occaſioned a great Sickneſs among them. Waggons full of ſick Soldiers arrive here almoſt every Day, and we reckon that out of 3000, or thereabouts, which were in the Hoſpital of the old Town, near 1200 have died ſince December laſt.

Bruſſels, February 19. Recruiting goes on ſo ſucceſsfully in theſe Provinces, that we reckon to compleat the Troops before the End of next Month, and, in caſe of Need to keep an Army of 30,000 Men in the Field

Vienna, February 10. The Army in Bavaria is divided, and ſpreads itſelf all over the Country, from whence they draw very conſiderable Contributions, and ſuch Quantities of all ſorts of Proviſions, that Count Khevenhuller has offer'd to ſupply the Army in Bohemia. We have this Moment Advice, that ſeven Battalions of French Troops have been ſurrounded and cut to Pieces at Bunzel in Bohemia.

Leghorn, February 10 This City is reduced to the moſt deplorable Condition imaginable. All the Houſes are either thrown down, or ſo ſhatter'd by the laſt Earthquake, that none of the Inhabitants dare to live in them All Trade is at an End The ſubſtantial People are gone, and the reſt are diſperſed in the Streets, and in the Country, and are in want of common Neceſſaries, which is a very affecting Sight To compleat their Misfortune, the Earth is not yet ſettled, and the Sea is in the moſt violent Agitation; frightful Noiſes are heard, which makes People greatly apprehend another violent Shock.

Venice, February 13. Letters from Piedmont adviſe that the King of Sardinia is carrying on vaſt Preparations of War, without any one being able to diſcover his real Intentions. From the Tranquility which prevails at Milan it is inferr'd, this Prince is ſo far from having a Deſign to attack that Dutchy, that he rather intends to protect it againſt any Invaſion whatſoever; in the mean Time the Spaniards are advancing towards Lombardy.

Vienna, February 14. Our laſt Accounts from Moravia import, that the Pruſſians have begun to commit Hoſtilities in that Country, and to raiſe large Contributions. One of our Detachments however has had the good Fortune to defeat one of theirs, to kill 30, and take many more Priſoners. On Advice of ſome Stirs in Poland, Orders have been diſpatch'd to Tranſilvania, directing, the Arriere-Ban to be raiſed, which will bring 100,000 Men into the Field. General Bruniani who arrived here a few Days ago from Italy, has brought a Confirmation that the King of Sardinia, the Republick of Venice, and the Duke of Modena, are determin'd to declare againſt any Power attempting to diſturb the Repoſe of Italy. The Enemy in Moravia had form'd a Deſign againſt Znaim, where we have a conſiderable Magazine, but Prince Lobkowitz, who has lately receiv'd a Reinforcement, prevented them, by doubling the Guards poſted there.

Dreſden, February 15. Our laſt Advices from Bohemia ſay, that the French keep the Gates of Prague ſhut, ſuffer no Strangers to enter, and diſcover great Apprehenſions at the Approach of the Auſtrians. The Harmony that reign'd amongſt the Allies is in a Manner loſt.

Vienna, February 21 Count Lewis of Staremberg arrived here Yeſterday, preceeded by ſix Poſtillions ſounding their Horns, with the News that the City of Munich, Capital of Bavaria, had ſurrendered to the Troops of her Hungarian Majeſty by Capitulation, upon Colonel Mentzel's preſenting himſelf before it with the Huſſars: The Town capitulated without having ſaved the fineſt Arſenal, as it is ſaid, in Germany. The Arms, it is thought, will be diſtributed amongſt thouſands of People in theſe Hereditary Countries, who are inceſſantly petitioning for Leave to diſtinguiſh themſelves in their ſeveral Diſtricts for the Service of the Queen of Hungary.

We ſee a mighty Change of Affairs in this City, and we hardly know in what Terms to expreſs our Acknowledgements to Count Khevenhuller. We every Day receive vaſt Quantities of all ſorts of Proviſion, as well as great Numbers of Cattle and Horſes by the Danube; and in ſhort every Thing that is worth taking out of Bavaria, or that we can be ſuppoſed to want here. Our laſt Advices from Bohemia are ſuch as would melt a Heart of Stone. The French and Bavarians are ſo much afraid of a Revolt, or of the People running out of the Country, that they will not permit the Peaſants to keep much leſs to wear any Arms, or to ſtir three Miles from their Houſes.

On the 19th an Expreſs arrived with Advice, that three Regiments of Bavarian Troops had been entirely defeated between Landſhut and Ingoldſtadt. This Expreſs brought with him two of the Bavarians Standards and a pair of Colours.

The

CHARLES-TOWN, June 14.

On Monday last return'd from her Cruiſe off St. Auguſtine, his Majeſty's Ship the Flamborough, commanded by Capt. Haymer

The ſaid Capt. Haymor, on Thurſday the 27th of May, about 5 o'Clock in the Morning, near the Matances, ſaw Eleven Sail of Spaniſh Veſſels, (which he ſuppos'd were bound from the Havanna for St. Auguſtine) Four whereof were ſmall Schooners or Pettyaugers, Six others Sloops with fine clean white Bottoms, and the Eleventh was (a Galley) their Convoy — There being a great Calm Capt. Haymor mann'd both his Boats, to tow the Ship after them, expecting he ſhou'd ſoon have a little Wind, but the Calm ſtill continuing, he found it in vain any longer to purſue with the Ship, and therefore gave Orders to thoſe in the Boats, to give chaſe to, and try if they could come up with and board ſome of them, which they accordingly endeavour'd to do, but cou'd not effect, becauſe the Galley not only continually fired her Bow-Chaſe and Swivel Guns at them, but alſo whenever the Boats were about to board any of the Veſſels, row'd down to their Aſſiſtance, and ſo prevented their being taken; the Boats now perceiving it impoſſible to take any of that Fleet whilſt the Galley was with them, return'd on board the Flamborough and made their Report, whereupon a Council of War was held, wherein it was reſolv'd to cut off ſuch of the Veſſels as were heavy Sailors; and a ſmall Breeze then ariſing Capt. Haymor accordingly gave Chaſe to and cut off two of the Sloops, whilſt the Galley and the reſt of the Fleet made the beſt of their Way and got ſafe into the Matances; Capt. Haymor having as aforeſaid cut off two of the Sloops, again mann'd his Boats (with 36 Hands) to board them, which the Spaniards perceiving, immediately ran the Veſſels on ſhore, and went themſelves up the Hills, the Boats notwithſtanding purſued them, and by the great Surge one was ſtove to Pieces, with 18 Men in her, who all got on board one of the Sloops, and while they were ſearching for Ammunition to defend themſelves, her Men being join'd by a conſiderable Party, of either Indians or Spaniards from St Auguſtine, return'd from the Hills, keeping a ſmart and continual Fire upon the Engliſhmen, who, having nothing to defend themſelves, (their own Ammunition being all wet in the ſtaving of the Boat) were obliged to ſurrender as Priſoners of War, except one, who chooſing rather to truſt himſelf to the Waves than the Spaniards, jump'd over board, and was taken up by the Barge, which immediately return'd to the Man of War, the Time of whoſe Station off St. Auguſtine then expiring — Amongſt thoſe who ſurrender'd themſelves Priſoners of War were the following Officers of his Majeſty's Ship, viz the ſecond Lieutenant, the Maſter Maſter, the Carpenter, and three Midſhipmen — The above Sloops are ſo high aſhore that they can never be got off again — Some time before Capt Haymor met the above Fleet, being becalm'd of Auguſtine Bar for three Days, he ſaw in that Harbour one Brigantine, one Schooner, and two Sloops

Wedneſday laſt ſail'd on a Cruiſe, to protect our Trade from the Spaniards, his Majeſty's Snow the Hawk, commanded by Lieutenant Churchill, Capt. Bruce then being very ill at his Lodgings in this Town And

Saturday departed this Life, after a tedious Indiſpoſition, Capt. Bruce, late Commander of the Hawk aforeſaid, much lamented by all his Acquaintance.

We hear, that Capt Sandwell, who arriv'd at Frederica in Georgia the 5th Inſtant, ſpoke with the Swift Man of War (near Cape Hatteras) commanded by Capt Blackwell, who ('tis ſaid) told him, he had juſt engaged a Spaniſh Privateer Brigt well mann'd, for Four Hours, and had but one Man wounded. — But being too well provided for each other, they parted.

Thurſday Night an Expreſs arriv'd in Town from General Oglethorpe, with Advice, that a Re inforcement was arrived at St. Auguſtine. This Expreſs does not mention, as was reported, that 2000 Men were landed, in order to invade this Province.

Friday Afternoon arrived a Schooner from Santee, which was chas'd in the Morning off Long Iſland, by a ſmall but taunt rigg'd Schooner, and by all Circumſtances, muſt be a Spaniſh Privateer. She went to the Northward, no doubt, to look for the ſwift Man of War

Capt. Durham from Philadelphia was laſt Week chas'd 12 Hours, by (as he ſuppoſes) a Spaniſh Privateer.
